WE ARE REALLY HAVING A GOOD ONE..... As this issue is being prepared we are in the middle of the worst winter that I can remember!! Like many parts of the country, here in Southern West Virginia, it has been 'ruff - 'ruff! A few mornings ago, it was minus 23 degrees - our gas went off - the power went off - and we had to move to my sister's home and spend time in front of a log burning fireplace... plenty of water pipes frozen... cars wouldn't go, etc. etc. Then, when some gas pressure returned, the gas company cut off the meters on all business places for two or three days.... you might have seen the national news on TV from Fayetteville, W. Va. (NBC, I believe) showing the situation !

But... better days are coming !! By the time of the Spring Meeting at Pipestem, it will all be history and all NSCA members can join right in on the swaps and other activities of the big 10th Anniversary meeting.... Don't forget to get your reservations in early !! See the form in this issue of the bulletin.... Too, read all about the Edkins Scrip Book - and other interesting items in this issue.... One other little one that I must pass along from the local papers in connection with the weather -- "They said it would be a cold day in h when an outsider was installed as governor of West Va. Well, it really was.... when Jay Rockefeller was installed as our new leader, the temperature was below zero at the Charleston town during the ceremony" -- We still have an urgent need of good material for the mail auction sales. The better items will bring you a good price and the sales charge is only 20% on items that sell!! -- Too, your attention is invited to the Open Letter to all NSCA members in another section of this issue.... So, get your reservation in and we will see you at Pipestem... Should get another issue of the bulletin to you in late March or early April... good collecting !!

The following members did NOT renew for the 1976 year and will be dropped from the mailing lists effective with the next bulletin..... Any member listed who wants to continue on the mailing list should send $6.00 dues at once for the 1976 and the 1977 year to: Walter Caldwell, Secretary, P. O. Box 29, Fayetteville, W.Va. 25840

Scenes in Graham in 1908

Some of the boys included in the survey, Jimmy Williams, Fred Hill, Frank Hill, Lee Howell, Elmer Carter, and others. If any of these boys could have the chance to go away today, no doubt they could have made a good record.

The first was a dry store and a wooden building and the second one was brick.
When I left brick store
I heard they built another one and that was the first one. They is not a good place.
We were very luckers.
Some people did well with the first one. They would buy things in the store
and they had a discount.

John A. Harding, Kenneth
Fletcher, Kelly and Miller,
Woodward Mackay, Benjamin
McGowan, Oliver, Shady, Lillian and others. They had the drug store, and the barber shop, the
dentists--T. J. Cook,
John H. Hurrelson, William Loftus, Howell and others.

Graham had taxis, their cars made their debts, had two every stables, Hunter and Boggs. Boys would have him and take their hearts for a drive in the country. That was something.

William had two good boarding houses, Corn-hams and Bender.

The company built its own power plant and made its own electricity for years. They built a new power plant, more modern and covered up the old plant in a new plant.

Madison has produced some good men, such as doctors, lawyers, bankers, judges, sheriffs and preachers and some good business men.

There were some of the good ones, but there was another side not so good. As always, some attended church, some did not, quite a few gambled and it was nothing uncommon to go on the hill back of colored town on Sunday and see three to five crap games and that many or more poker games. But they were very quiet and never disturbed the people in town. There was a bunch who did not gamble but liked to play sell pitch for fun. On Sunday they would get in the shade and have some big pitch game.

Central City had saloons. Some would catch the train going to Central City about 7 A. M., stay in Central City about two hours, catch another train back. They would get themselves intoxicated. And one thing I remember well—they would bring back cups of beer in glass containers and take them home.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

BY: JOHN FLISS, 321 PERSHING DRIVE, NEW KENSINGTON, PA. 15068

* * * * *

Q. A new collector and member wants to know what is a "maverick?"

A. As it pertains to our hobby, a "maverick" token is one whose information is incomplete, vague or indefinite as to specific location or firm name or both. The meaning is similar to unbranded cattle born on the range. Where do they belong for certain?

Q. What is the composition of the metal tokens generally found in our coal scrip collections?

A. The yellow brass tokens contain 70% copper and 30% zinc. The red brass tokens contain 80 to 88% copper and the balance is zinc. This is according to Caldwell's "Coal Company Scrip". The aluminum token is primarily that or slight variations of it. A true copper token must contain 95% pure copper as stated in a recent Coin World article. A bronze token is an alloy of less than 95% copper and the balance in tin or sometimes other elements. The white metal (wm) token often referred to as nickel silver or German silver is an alloy of copper, zinc and nickel. As to the proportions, I am uncertain.

Q. What ultimately happened to the once abundant N.R.&P. Stores metal scrip?

A. Bob Craigo has heard two stories. Each store destroyed their own scrip such as the Thayer scrip which was supposedly thrown into New River. The other story is that all scrip was sent to the main office of Berwind-White from whence it has disappeared. (Editor's note: Too, another factor causing short supply of this scrip is the fact that the company changed from metal to paper scrip many years ago. Most of the miners holding metal scrip could not financially afford to put away specimens of the metal and exchanged it for paper at the company offices.)

Q. A reader wants to know what is "monobel"?

A. It is a type of explosive used in past mining operations. I am not certain if it is still used today. I do not know its chemical composition.

COMMENTS AND ANSWERS TO PREVIOUS QUESTIONS:

Re: H. R. Hollis & Co. in the previous issue of Scrip Talk. Bob Craigo states the following: Stone quarries and a large cement operation could be possible users of the Hollis scrip, with the Alpha Portland Cement Co. of Manheim across the Cheat River from Rowlesburg being the most likely prospect. Alpha acquired the property in 1909 from Buckhorn Portland Cement Co. and shortly thereafter began mining stone. They had a large coal house which could have been supplied by their own coal mines. Alpha built 25 modern cottages, each with a garden plot for its 180 workers. There was also the Preston Blue Stone quarry in the area which could have used the Hollis scrip. The annual Mine Reports of 1916, 1924 and 1928 do not refer to any commercial mines at Rowlesburg. Any mines in the area prior to 1914 were small "country" mines. And while digging up this information, Bob also found out that the Kane Creek Coal Co. at Kanes Creek, W.Va. (Preston Co.) was operating the Iona and Field Mines in 1923. Those of you having the Kanes Creek Supply Co. tokens in your collection can now attribute these tokens with certainty. A thank you to Bob from all of us.

MAVERICKS:

I am sure many collectors have a number of IS09 and IS14 maverick tokens in their personal collections. If not, we at least see many offered in auctions and sales. Many of these could be coal or lumber tokens. At the suggestion of Paul Jensen, we are listing some of these tokens in the hope that it will prove interesting and possibly some can be identified. Too, we encourage all members to send in a list of their mavericks. Your response in identification and also in sending in maverick lists will determine if this is to be continued.

R. R. TIPPY, PRESIDENT
National Scrip Collectors Association
102½ MEADOW ROAD
OAK RIDGE, TENNESSEE 37830

In the last issue we stated, "At this time we can report to you that the Edkins Scrip Book is closer to a reality than perhaps it has ever been, but to reach our mutual goal will not be easy. Your committee is very optimistic and will keep you advised."

At this time your committee regretfully reports that their efforts to raise the necessary funds on a loan basis were only partially successful. Consequently, we are in what might be described as a "holding pattern". At this point in time, we are discouraged, but certainly not ready to "throw in the towel". Should any of you have comments, observations, or questions, please contact any member of the book committee: Don Edkins, Cole Cuttle, John Fliss and myself. We will continue to pursue all avenues and keep you advised.

The "BUSINESS MEETING" at the Spring Meeting at Pipestem State Park will convene at 1:15 p.m., on SATURDAY, APRIL 30, 1977. This segment of NSCA's TENTH ANNIVERSARY MEETING has a number of important items on the agenda including: (1) Panel type discussion by members of the catalogue committee and taking whatever action may be deemed necessary. (2) Submission of a proposal by Paul Jensen and his committee on the establishment of NSCA rules for the sale of a deceased member's collection. (3) Nomination and election of officers for a two-year term. (4) Presentation of awards by John Fliss and Walter Caldwell to the scriptors writing the best story for Scrip Talk and sponsoring the most new members during the past year. (5) Selection of a site for the Fall 1977 meeting. We propose to let the membership vote on this item. We encourage any scriptor (s) who would like to co-host this meeting to present to the membership what you have to offer. Fred Lange, chairman of this committee, advises that scriptors from the Morgantown, West Va. area have indicated they have much to offer in their area and will tell us about it at the meeting. We encourage others from other sections to do likewise. (6) Good of the organization - under this section of business we invite the membership to speak their piece.

POTPURRI: METCA (Merchant Token Collector's Association) and BRNA (Blue Ridge Coin News) recently carried a feature story on coal scrip tokens, the hobby, and the NSCA. A special thanks to Barry Bender for his nice words about our organization and hobby and we would like to return the favor. We encourage any scriptor who has an interest in other type tokens to write to Barry, who is Editor and Publisher of Trade Token Topics. Since he is a new member of NSCA, you will find his address in another section.... A FACT - it is anticipated that a scrip book would normally increase the value of your collection.. Another FACT - Fred and Judy Lange will have some pleasant surprises for those attending the Pipestem meeting... Another FACT - to date SCRIP TALK is published without any charge to you !!

THERE IS ALWAYS A BETTER WAY -- YOUR CATALOGUE COMMITTEE NEEDS YOUR HELP IN FINDING THIS WAY !!

Scripfully,

TO ALL NSCA MEMBERS:

A few short years ago in Hickory Gap, South Carolina, a young fellow started collecting Civil War tokens. He exchanged his duplicates with another near-by collector and later heard of another collector at a local coin show and started exchanging his extra tokens. Later, he learned of the existence of a Civil War Token group and applied for membership. Still later, it was announced that the group was publishing a listing of all known Civil War tokens and this collector was able to add listings of several of the tokens in his collection. This comprehensive listing of all known varieties resulted in the publication of a Civil War token book. This book described the known tokens and placed a relative value on each token through a rarity scale. As a result of the publication of a book on Civil War tokens, many, many new collectors joined the ranks as avid collectors. Many, many token dealers now offered these interesting tokens to collectors since they had a basis for determining the value of the various items. As a result of the book, this collector in South Carolina saw the value of the tokens in his collection increase because of the economics of "supply and demand".

Sometime ago, a collector in Wildwood, Missouri, saw some transportation tokens in a coin dealer's window. He remembered that he had saved a small number of these tokens as he travelled across the country during World War II. He didn't know that anyone else was saving these bus and street car tokens. Upon talking with the coin dealer, he learned that there was available a book which listed all types of transportation tokens and told about an organization of collectors. He immediately purchased the book, the tokens on display in the window, and rushed madly home to dig out the tokens he already owned. The final result was another happy collector of transportation tokens and a new member of the collector's organization.

Now, this very day, the over three hundred members of the National Scrip Collectors Association have an opportunity to advance the hobby of coal token collecting! Our organization is on the threshold of the publication of a major book on these interesting tokens! News of this venture was given at the last meeting in Corbin, Kentucky in the fall of 1976 and additional information will be presented at the Spring 1977 meeting at Pipestem State Park. Too, details were presented in the last issue of "Scrip Talk" and more information will be found in this issue. In addition, several of you have received a letter from the Book Committee in regard to this project.

The future of the hobby of coal scrip token collecting is in YOUR hands!! The response that you make during the next few months will determine - to a great extent - the future of our interesting hobby and the resulting value of your individual coal scrip collection!! Are YOU ready and willing to assume your share of the burden to see that a book on coal scrip tokens becomes a reality??
